Best man speeches

The most important job in a wedding is to deliver a best man’s speech. But what if you are given no time to prepare for it? If the wedding is scheduled for tomorrow and you have been given one night’s notice to prepare it, then you better set down to write one right away.

But the question is how to write a best man’s speech that enthralls all the audience? So, to help you out of this quandary, here are some guidelines that you can follow to deliver that awesome best man’s speech.

•   A proper introduction

Best man speeches must have your introduction in the very beginning. It is important as it will establish your relationship with the groom to everyone present in the wedding. Also, it will be easier for the people to accept you as the best man of the groom and to relate with you.

•   A thorough research

Yes, research work is required in best man speeches as well. It is important that you know sufficiently about the wedding couple before citing your speech and raising your toast. The information you need will be regarding how the couple met, how long they have been together, their common hobbies, interests and like/dislikes. If you know a few instances of their courtship period, it will make your speech more relevant and enjoyable.

•   Make it humorous

None of the best man speeches have ever gained interest of the listeners if they have been boring and labored. Make your speech light-hearted and humorous. Fill it with interesting anecdotes and jokes about the couple so that the audience has a very hearty laugh.

•   Practice your speech well

It is very important that you practice the best man speeches a number of times before the wedding day. Do not plan an impromptu speech. Moreover, keep your expression lucid so that it is easy to memorize. Fumbling while delivering the speech will annoy your audience.

•   Involve the audience with you

Try to engage your audience with you. Unless the audience is invited to take part in the best man speeches, it feels boring and uninteresting. You are supposed to thank the parents of the groom and the bride for such wedding arrangements, the couple for the gifts and audience for listening to you so patiently. In the end, it is crucial to wish the couple a very happy conjugal life.

•   Wedding toasts

Best man speeches are just incomplete without the wedding toasts. These toasts signal happiness, well-being and the prosperity of the just- wed couple. Make sure you do nit spill the beans about any of the couple’s embarrassing moments or ex-relations.

•   Keep it concise

Do not stretch your speech unduly and bore your listeners to death. Those best man speeches are always appreciated that keep concise and yet convey a lot.

Towards the conclusion, tell the wedding couple how their lives have changed for the better and wish them a long and happy married life. If you plan and deliver your speech well, it is sure to earn laurels.

About the Author

Best man Speech is a professional speech writer expertise in writing best man speeches for grooms, bride & groom and for weddings. Best man Speech pack includes Ultimate Best Man Speech, hilarious speech that overcomes the stage fear and gets great applause from audience.

Source: http://www.tntarticles.com