

MySpace Precautions: Prevent Mishaps

Myspace is the hottest online communities where members can create personal websites and meet new friends or reconnect with old friends. It will continue to be pleasurable experience till you can keep yourself safe from Internet stalker. You also need to understand the terms of service on Myspace and also being able to differentiate between a good and a bad profile holder in myspace. "Prevention is better than cure" is a famous adage, which is highly applicable in this field. Precaution should be taken by every users of Myspace to prevent any mishaps.

First and foremost that any Myspace user should take is to safeguard their personal information so that Internet stalker could not locate you with their wrong intention. Personal information includes your full name, contact number, place of birth, High school attended and year of graduation, names of children and location and date of their births and physical address. Apart from these there are several other personal information that people are highly aware of and they are their social security number, credit card number and bank account number.

Myspace is the hottest online communities where many people sign up daily to have a pleasurable experience. Beware of the wolves in sheep clothing. There are users on Myspace with wrong intentions causing physical harm to the user and they deliberately misrepresent themselves just to prey on the innocent or the weaklings. Therefore precaution should be taken while accepting or sending a friends request. Go through the profile several times and allow some space to your research to achieve a positive result. Generally misrepresentation may be lying about interest or activities for the purpose of being more attractive to someone you have a crush. They may also lie their age, sex and location in order to lure another member into a harmful situation. Numerous national headlines about young users of MySpace being abducted by individuals they met online not with only one reason to physically harm them but there are other potentially harmful reasons why an individual on MySpace try to be pretentious. MySpace members can avoid both physical and financial danger by exercising caution in their interactions with other members of the community by avoiding posting sensitive information on MySpace pages unless the profile is made private. Users should also take precautions when sending emails and instant messages.

Members of MySpace should familiarize themselves with the terms of service provided by MySpace which will help the members to understand which actions are permissible and which actions are prohibited in order to prevent a member from unknowingly breaking the community rules and running the risk of being banned from the community.

About the Author

myspace layout - friendster layout - div layout myspace - myspace layouts

Source: <http://www.tntarticles.com>