Before taking a risk, you should consult MANY specialists. And choose the best. It is your right to make some investigation. You have to know whether the surgeon have already led successful surgical procedures and how many. What common side effects his patients faced.

The average cost of hair transplantation is approximately $7000. It can vary from country to country. You should know that some surgeons are not enough qualified or have a lack of experience. They just may want to cash in on YOUR health. If they fail the surgical procedure from the very beginning, you will be prompted to perform the second one. And so on.
