

Comparison of World of Warcraft Gold Selling Sites

Competition amongst online sellers of Massively Multi-player Role-playing Game currency is fierce and crowded with opportunists. Gamers who are looking to purchase virtual currency have dozens of different vendors from which they can choose. However not all online currency retailers are created equal, however, and gamers are wise to do a little research on the major selling websites before they commit to a purchase and potentially put themselves and their online game accounts at risk.

Players looking to purchase cheap WoW gold will be pleased to discover that they have a number of website options, all of which offer gold packages at a reasonable price. Not all online gold retailers are created equal, however, and players are wise to do a little research on the major selling websites before committing to a purchase. Buying gold online can be a risky venture, so it is vitally important to ensure that the company you are working with is reputable, secure, and discrete. You will be providing personal information and financial information to the website, so you want to make sure your information is secure.

One of the most reliable WoW gold selling sites on the internet is www.igxp.com/wow. This site is unique in that it operates a gold futures market that promises a specified return of gold by a set date. The price quoted for a set amount of gold is based on common factors such as your WoW server and your faction (Alliance or Horde), as well as the length of time you allot for delivery of the purchased gold. Players can elect to receive their gold purchases anywhere from one day to 60 days in the future. The longer the specified time frame, the cheaper the cost of the purchased gold. Since shorter timeframes require immediate and intense gold production, orders with shorter deadlines will incur a higher fee. The advantage to using a website such as www.igxp.com/wow is that players who order cheap WoW gold for their WoW accounts know exactly when they can expect to receive their currency, and can save money by selecting the appropriate delivery time frame based on their needs.

By contrast, other gold selling sites such as www.vgameitem.com do not specify a set order delivery time. Instead, orders are processed based upon current stock levels and order volumes. A player who places an order on a server that currently has a good stock of gold may receive their order quickly. However, gold orders on servers in which the current gold supply is low (or gone) will delay the order indefinitely. A large volume of incoming orders can also delay the process for an unspecified period of time. The result is that players who order WoW gold from vgameitem.com are left to ponder when they can expect to receive their money. In some cases, delivery might take long enough to leave the player wondering why they just didn't farm for the money on their own.

Regardless of the gold vending website you select, be sure that you have done your research and are comfortable with the company, their security measures, and their delivery timeframe.

About the Author

Nick Wong is a hardcore World of Warcraft gamer and also treasurer of his World of Warcraft Guild on Blockrock server, who explore fast gold making methods in-game and acquire Cheap WoW Gold on the web for his WoW Guild.

Source: <http://www.tntarticles.com>