

Personalized gift ideas – handmade oil paintings from your photos!

We all like to give gifts; this is why we usually think long and hard about the kind of gifts we are going to purchase for our loved ones, friends and family, plus coworkers. The Internet is one of the best sources, providing a great deal of good ideas including when it comes to personalized gift ideas. You can easily use a search engine and discover the most popular gifts of this year; this way you can be sure that all of your gifts will be appreciated and welcomed.

What would you say of commission artwork? You just have to select out a photo and they will paint it for you in oil. Everyone loves handmade paintings, no matter if they are family portraits or pet portraits. With such a gift, you are guaranteed to impress everyone back at home and also your colleagues at work. And best of all, you don't have to pay a fortune to have portraits and paintings from your photos, especially if you find a reliable online service from Melbourne or Sydney.

If you've been looking for the perfect gift, stop and think about how lovely it would be to go with the commission artwork idea. Just try and imagine your mother when you will give to her a personalised family portrait, especially made after the photographs you took last year. Also, if your boyfriend has a favorite pet you could take a photo and send it to these specialists. Having experience in the field, they will make sure that they capture the best features of the pet, providing you with a truly special gift for your loved one. After all, pet portraits are incredibly popular and particularly the ones handmade in oil.

All you have to do is submit an original photo and then wait to receive the finished painting in oil. The whole thing takes a maximum period of two weeks and it is quite affordable, especially when you see how incredible the likeness between the photo and the artwork is. Given the advances of the Internet technology, you have the possibility of previewing the painting whenever you desire and ask for any modifications, without any additional charges whatsoever. You have to complete the payment only after you are 100% satisfied with the painting. Also, you have the opportunity to ask for your money back in case you are not satisfied but that is hardly the case as all their paintings are incredibly amazing.

Go online and ask for a free quote services. Learn about all the things they have to offer when it comes to making portraits and paintings from your photos, the available sizes and the required amount of money for the deposit. The final product is delivered right to your door and you don't have to worry about paying any additional shipping fees, as they are included in the price. You can browse the extensive gallery presented online, pick out a specific background or style for your painting. Also, you can request a free consultation in your own home and decide which kind of hand painting is most suitable for you. The freedom of choice is one of the most attractive things and you will certainly impress everyone with the personalised gifts offered!

About the Author

Adding beautiful oil paintings to your office can add a touch of elegance and worldliness that's difficult to convey otherwise. Perhaps you are expanding your corporate art collection, or purchasing your very first piece: <http://www.directartaaustralia.com.au>

Source: <http://www.tntarticles.com>