

Flavor of Halloween in United States

What is Halloween?

Halloween is an international festival, usually celebrated on 31 October every year in the United States, Canada, Ireland, and Scotland. The festival dates back to ancient Celt period, when a festival to welcome the new season of harvesting was celebrated on a large scale. To honor their gods, Celts used to burn big bonfires of foods, animals, and fruits and dedicate it to their ancestors to provide them their blessings. It was also believed that on this day, dead ones visit their land and converse with the people. People used to wear masks and costumes to scare evil spirits that later became a trademark of this festival.

Halloween in United States

Halloween festival is a great celebration time in the United States. On every 31 October, Halloween is celebrated with great excitement and fun. Children as well as adults take part and enjoy with various elaborate homemade and store-bought decorations. In this day, since morning people start decorating their homes and streets to give it a new look. People invite each other on this day and make different delicious recipes and food items to lure their guests and invitees. The festival of Halloween is considered as the second important festival of the country only after the Christmas. Commercially also, Halloween generates good revenues and involves money transactions.

Generally, a week before the festival, people start doing their preparation for making it a grand day. They plan out their dresses and normally wear a different styled cloth to earn appreciations. For school and college students, this festival has a special meaning. These people generally decorate their place with lots of pumpkins and lightings to create a version of heaven on the earth. Devil, hospital patient, black weirdo are some of the popular costumes for Halloween. However, people have started mixing up the ideas and dressing pattern a lot.

About the Author

I webmaster of <http://www.costumes4less.com> dealing in all types of Costume, Halloween Costumes, Adult Party Costume, and kids halloween costumes as well at very cheap & affordable price at a single place.

Source: <http://www.tntarticles.com>