

Cristiano Ronaldo: Counted Among The World's Best Soccer Player

Manchester United star Cristiano Ronaldo has been in sensational form all season for Manchester United, and his mind blowing performances on the pitch have made him the winner of the Premiership in just his third season in English soccer. He has learnt not to try his fancy tricks when the team is defending in their own half, and has proved that he is more of a team player by passing and moving the ball around with far more respect for his teammates. The Portuguese star has scored 17 goals this season from 31 appearances for club side Manchester United, holds the second position in the top scorers chart for the Premiership, and is only 2 goals behind Didier Drogba who is leading the chart with just one fixture remaining.

The incredible player Cristiano Ronaldo has not only brought glory and recognition to club but also had great personal successes. Midfielder Cristiano Ronaldo is regarded as one of the most exciting talents of the modern game, and a permanent fixture in the Portuguese national squad. His incredible ball control and trademark skills have seen him receive countless awards. He is the only the second footballer in English history to be awarded with two superb football awards both the PFA players' award and the PFA young players' award. Ronaldo has also been rewarded a lucrative new 5 year contract worth around £120,000 a week with Manchester United. Recently he has signed for Pro Evolution Soccer 2008 the latest edition to the multi-million-selling Pro Evolution Soccer series.

Cristiano Ronaldo apart from being counted among the world's best soccer player is also looked as a bit of a sex symbol by plenty of English women, with plenty of interest shown in the United winger's private life exposed by media and fans alike. He had always been in the headlines as a controversial figure. He was accused of a serious sexual assault at a central London, but was finally released as there was no solid clue and the allegations were the product of imagination and fantasy. Currently he is engaged with actress and former Hollyoaks star Gemma Atkinson. Another international gossip that is buzzing around is the relation between 28 years old Bollywood actress Bipasha Basu and 22 years old Ronaldo. The gossip started when both were seen getting very cozy with each other at a VIP bash held after the new Seven Wonders of the World ceremony in Lisbon.

Though there are several scandals about Cristiano Ronaldo like many other celebrities nothing could hold his fans back from loving him despite of the scandals.
