One of the health problems that affect the lives of many men is erectile dysfunction or impotence. Erectile dysfunction is the inability to obtain an adequate erection for satisfactory sexual activity. This problem is more common in men older than 65, but may occur at any age. Men buy different impotence treatment drugs available in the market. However, to search for effective drug that can treat this problem has become difficult due to the vast range of huge drugs in the market.

Due to the boom in the pharmaceutical sector, many local pharmacies sell fake and generic drugs for treating impotence. The users of these types of drugs may only end up wasting their money, as these drugs hardly prove effective to cure impotence.

One of the reputed pharmaceutical companies named Eli Lilly came up with a new drug for treating impotence among men. This drug, Cialis has become popular among users since its arrival in the market. However, not everyone can buy Cialis, as it is a prescription drug. You can buy Cialis if you obtain prescription from a registered physician, who may probe about your other medical conditions.

Every prescription drug has its own side effects, and Cialis is not an exception. The most common side effects visible among users who buy Cialis include facial flushing, diarrhea, back pain, dizziness, headache or migraine, heartburn, allergic reactions, nasal congestion, muscle pain, effect in vision, and red eyes. However, these side effects are treatable after consulting a physician. It may be possible that few users of Cialis will feel chest pain. You should immediately take medical consultation in that situation. To take Cialis without informing your doctor may prove harmful for your health.

You should not buy Cialis if you are already taking any other medication for treating other medical conditions. Do not take Cialis along with nitrate drugs, which treat chest pain or heart problems. Taking Cialis with a nitrate medicine can cause a serious decrease in blood pressure that may lead to fainting, stroke, or heart attack. If you experience symptoms like dizziness, nausea, or have pain, numbness, or tingling in your chest, arms, neck, or jaw, you should immediately stop the sexual activity and consult your doctor without any delay.

Always take Cialis once a day and not more than that. There should be at least a gap of 24 hours between two doses. You should always store Cialis drug at room temperature. It should be kept away from moisture and heat. This drug acts as a temporary cure to your erection problem. Therefore, you need not worry about the dosage. Buy Cialis when you feel the desire to prolong your erection.
