

Reading help for the beginners- Book lovers PLEASE DON'T READ

I have seen my brother reading books, books and books, all the time. His major interest is in Science books, but he can also go for Fiction Book, Novels, Magazines or a Text Book! At the age of 12 he had his full-fledged library of the most rare books found in this world. Till date I see him carrying a book whenever he is on a flight or waiting for somebody. But for beginners like me, I have few tips that can boost your book reading and can make your journey of reading your favorite book a pleasurable one.

Well let's begin with my crash course on book reading!

Use Index Card:

I am a very impatient person and when I read a book or an article, my eyes go here and there as if I want to read everything with an eye's blink. This creates confusion and the pleasure that one derives from book reading vanishes.

Use an indexing card, which can cover the whole page except the sentence that you are reading. This will help to maintain constant concentration.

Index Finger:

One of the most typical and old methods of reading a book is using the index finger and following it with the sentences you read. Once you take off the finger, you will know you are lost!

Read Loudly:

To read out words might not be very effective when you are reading a book in a public place, but trust me; this is very helpful when you are alone. I always do read out words when I am alone, even when you are reading at a public place, you can whisper the words. You can never lose your concentration, if your brain is in sync with your mouth while you whisper or read out words.

Use Highlighters:

Highlight the points you feel are important while book reading. You will find it worthwhile after you open your books after a long time and you still remember the important pages and texts you had marked. Some people don't like to mark the books with highlighters; they can simply use pencils for marking the important text.

Book Marks:

Use bookmarks for two reasons, first when ever you feel you are tired and losing concentration on your book, simply put a book mark and go for a break; remember you are going for a pleasure journey of book reading, so no need to take stress! Second these bookmarks are really cool to use; get a bookmark with your beloved's picture pasted on it, and I bet you will come again and again to the same page!

About the Author

Now since I have taught you these tips.... Guys! What are you waiting for, simply click on www.gauchotexts.com and order a book for yourselves, it's very easy to navigate. Go for the best bargain and add your best book in your shopping cart with best of prices.

Source: <http://www.tntarticles.com>